

THE EARTH LIGHT TRANSMISSIONS

The Light is Yours

Jon Whistler Speaks:

Submerged in human consciousness is the innate feeling that humans once possessed an essence of Light that they called a soul, and, in the darkness of their past, they lost this soul.

The loss of Light is the Great Mystery of Life, which remains unanswered. Somehow, this mystery is bound up with the old creation stories, the old Gods, and all that is responsible for the continual manifestation of human consciousness on the Earth.

Some individuals wrote that the Light was lost, and others wrote that it was imprisoned. If the Light was lost, it must be found, and if imprisoned, released. Otherwise the Light does not reign free, and human consciousness is imprisoned in a vulnerable body.

This mystery remained until we received the Transmissions from Zadore. We saw that all past efforts to solve the mystery were pure speculation, and these self-deceiving efforts were tainted by the Astrals imprisoned in the frequencies of matter in the radiation belts that surround the Earth.

Even after this information has been given out, human consciousness is still locked in the Loop of Time, repeating the same life events as it has over many millenniums

In these Transmissions Zadore gives you the keys to unlock your consciousness and Ego, freeing it from the repetitious events of the Time Loop.

If you are ready to cast aside the Astral Illusion and live in Light, your transition will open the way for others to follow in your path to freedom and Light.

The spiraling energy of the Vortex of Light and Healing draws all consciousness to its center, and in that center is the Light and consciousness of Zadore.

By your own volition, your Ego is imprisoned in the Astral Illusion, as you allow its influence to guide your life. Your Ego is an energy field that surrounds your Earth-body. Through several difficult life-experiences, your Ego widens or expands the energy field, allowing it to accommodate more Creative Light.

Each life-experience expands the field of the Ego, allowing it to receive and express more Light in the Third-dimension. Once your Ego is filled to capacity with Light, it is freed from Illusion and the need for personal power.

However your Ego has forgotten the prime reason for being, which is to mirror Light into the Third-dimensional Universe.

Your Ego is so steeped in the Illusion that it accepts the suggestion that it has the potential to move into the power and likeness of God. The more power it accesses in the Illusion, the greater the so-called spirituality it expresses, and your Ego now adopts a special name that places it with the Gods and ascended masters.

Often a name is selected from old mythologies – Celtic, Greek, Roman, Indo-European Gods or others – that the Ego uses to represent its level of attainment and spirituality. How can a selected name suggest freedom from the Illusion?

The name Zadore represents a frequency in Light. This we have been told in a previous Transmission. It is a frequency in Light that expresses intensity, an intensity that all consciousness can attune with, move to, and become one with.

Ma Kwa Jesus was an enlightened being who expressed the Light frequency of Zadore. At this moment there is no being in this dimension with an Ego capable of manifesting Zadore's Light frequency.

Many so-called authorities assert that the word Christ represents a dimensional frequency that projects God-like power. The word is from the Jewish or Hebrew language meaning "an anointed one". Ma Kwa Jesus never claimed to be the Christ, or the anointed one. However, when he said, "My Father and I are One", he was asserting that he was one with the Light frequency Zadore.

The Transmissions in this work provide you with the keys to unlock the doors of your personal prison. Once free, you will emerge in the light of the day, filling your Ego with the Creative Light that is mirrored to the Earth and its creatures.

The Light is Yours

Zadore Speaks:

"In other Transmissions you were told who the Astral Lords are and how they came to be on the Third-dimension, [One Light page 88]. Also, you learned how they created the Illusion that holds the majority of Egos in bondage. In this Transmission you will experience their descent into this Dimension and how they have molded the human Ego in their image.

"The Earth's consciousness is expanding in Light as its Ego frees itself from the deception of the Astral Illusion. The expansion in Light and consciousness by the Earth is a direct result of the opening created by Ma Kwa Jesus.

"All the segmental Egos attached to the Earth's bodies constitute the Earth's Ego, and this includes the Ego of Ma Kwa Jesus. The total experience of the segmented Egos reflects the consciousness and Light of the Earth.

The Light frequency of the Earth is Adasha. For any individual to claim the frequency of Adasha as a name, that individual would be the Earth, which is impossible because a segment cannot be greater than the whole.

“With the increase of Light from Ma Kwa Jesus’ Ego the Earth’s Light expanded, allowing its frequency to transcend the control of the Astral Illusion. Although the Astral Illusion appears to suppress the Light in many individual Egos, Adasha is now free from Astral influence and control.

“Even so, many of the Earth’s Egos are locked in the Illusion, and when they eventually attain their freedom, the Earth’s Light will intensify and repel the Astral consciousness from its field of Light.

“Due to its involvement in the Astral Illusion, the human Ego compartmentalizes everything, rationalizing and segmenting it. This fragments consciousness that, in turn, locks the consciousness deeper in the Illusion.

“Compare human behavior with other Egos expressed in animal bodies. Human behavior is a reflection of the Astral Lords because it expresses selfishness. As the Ego is self-centered, it desires domination over all life forms on the planet, including other human Egos.

“All animals express Light through their Egos relative to the extent of their energy field. Domesticated animals as well as those in captivity, tend to reflect the taint imposed on them by the Astral behavior of their human ‘masters’.

“Human beings, in their fear, murder any animal that poses a threat to their safety. In their greed, humans kill animals for their body parts, such as ivory from elephants and blubber from whales. Other animals are terminated in so-called medical research. In every case the Light in the Dimension is lessened.

“The Earth maintains its consciousness through natural selection. The perpetuation of life on the planet involves different organisms consuming other organisms for their continual growth and existence. Natural selection has nothing to do with murder, but for the survival of the species as well as the Earth’s own body. The same process occurs in the human body as cells consume other cells, maintaining the homeostasis of the total organism.

“Until you observe the behavior pattern of your Ego in the Illusion, as well as its relation with the Astral Lords, your consciousness remains imprisoned.”

The Outpouring of Light

Zadore opened my vision and consciousness to the outpouring of Light and Its return. The outpouring and return is the first principle active in all dimensions, universes and everything in consciousness. The expansive creative expression of Light has often been called the “Mystery”, a mystery because it cannot be pictured or expressed in words. I have faithfully recorded what Zadore opened in my consciousness, and this will open your consciousness to Light whereby you will perceive the underlying essence of the Astral Lords, their Illusion, and your participation in their Illusion.

Zadore Speaks:

“I will first talk about how the Astrals influence the Earth and its Egos. Before the coming of the Astrals, the Earth’s Egos were not as expansive as they are now, and this limited the flow of Light to the Earth’s organisms.

“They were patterned on forms that lived off the raw material of the patterns newly formed by the energies in the atmosphere. Some of the bodies were large and others small, but their consciousness was limited by energy fields of the Egos.

“All body patterns are located in the radiation belts that surround the Earth, and these patterns are reflected by the Sun into the Earth’s oceans where they take form, evolve and migrate onto the land.

“At that moment when the Astrals imprisoned themselves in the radiation belts, the forms on the Earth had become similar to those seen now, except that they had under-developed Egos.

“From the radiation belts the Astrals watched the movement of Light passing through the Sun to the Egos of the Earth. They observed how the Light flow animated these organisms, creating energy, activity and consciousness between the Earth-bodies.

“The Astrals felt that if they projected their consciousness into the Earth-organisms they would increase the energy in the Earth-bodies, which could be reflected back to them, increasing their own energy fields. They hoped this increase of power would help them break free from the radiation belts, allowing their return through the Sun to their previous frequency.

“Initially they projected their consciousness toward the Egos, attempting to displace the Light waves flowing through the Sun. Eventually they abandoned this practice because it drained more of their energy than they received in return.

“They knew that the body patterns were in the radiation belts, but were unable to access them. Also in the radiation belts were the frequencies of the Earth’s memory patterns, containing everything the Earth endured since its birth from the Sun. They could not alter these records; however, by observing what had previously occurred to the Earth’s Egos, the Astrals realized the Egos were open to manipulation through the consciousness inherent in the Earth-bodies, which reflected the total experience of the Earth.

“When the primitive organisms developed a higher level of perception, the Astrals induced dreams to manipulate the minds of the people. The Astrals merged many of the old patterns extant in the consciousness of the Earth-bodies. These merged patterns involved prototypes of beings: half man and half beast; half fish and half woman; men and women with wings, who flew through the air, leading the primitive earth dweller to safety from wild beasts who attacked them.

“Such dreams penetrated the mass of primitive consciousness on the Earth, even when separated by water and distance. The images of superior anthropomorphic beings that the Astrals effected in consciousness became the unseen Gods of the night and were externalized by the primitives in cave paintings and images made of stone, and worshiped or feared.

“In this way the Astrals gained energy and power from the primitive people without having to expend their energy through direct projection of that energy into the Earth-bodies.

“Following this experiment, the Astrals developed the first Loop of Time. Although rudimentary, it effectively reduced the availability of the Light flow through the primitive organisms to the Earth by keeping the consciousness of the Egos asleep within a cycle of repetitive behavior and action.

“The first Loop of Time was only short in comparison to the later ones. Due to the immaturity of the Egos, the organisms were not able to react to the intensity of the Illusion the Astrals mirrored to them. The basic input in the first Loop involved aggression and the desire to take possessions from one another. This conflict led to murder and pillage between groups.

“Energy was released through the fighting that followed and the Astrals absorbed it, strengthening their position. The conflicts raged on for many seasons until the population was all but decimated.

“In response to the weakening of the organisms, the Earth required some more advanced morpho-genetic patterns from the radiation belts to increase the Light through the Ego.

“The Earth’s Ego is segmented throughout all its organisms. The negative influence engendered by the Astrals in the primitive human organisms affected the total Ego structure, tainting the animals as well, creating aggressive reactions between the various animal Ego groups.

“In succeeding Time-loops the Astral negativeness flowing through the Ego into the body increased. The last two Loops, Lamu and Atlan, ended differently. Earthquakes and volcanic eruption destroyed Lamu, and volcanic forces unleashed through the mismanagement of harnessed volcanic energy destroyed Atlan.

“Atlan appeared to be an advanced technological society, however that was only superficial. In the Atlan Time-loop, the Astrals had in place Entities who ruled Atlan, but the mass consciousness of the people living there was no more developed than the primitive races of other landmasses on the Earth. The only difference portrayed by the Atlans was the thin veneer of sophistication of their lifestyle.

“It is not much different in the present Time-loop, for there are billions of individuals still possessing the primitive Ego energy fields similar to the primitives of the early Time loops. They, too, operate under the veneer of society, often reverting to behavior patterns of an uncontrolled state.

“Following the destruction of the Atlan Nation, the Astral Entities set up their new city in a primitive area on the Earth, later called ‘The Cradle of Civilization’.

“The Astral Entities formulated the present Time Loop [see Thread of Infinity], and began integrating many of the primitive people into their society. The primitives were introduced to the old Gods, who would protect them from death as well as invasion from hostile tribes. Many of the brainwashed primitives were sent out to convert neighboring tribes to the new gods, and link these other races to the Astral Entities’ kingdom.

“As the years flowed, the descendants of the original Astral Entities devoted themselves to maintaining positions as priests and rulers. They perpetuated their generations with marriage links to the descendants of the original families from Atlan. They preserved the bloodlines, providing DNA for subsequent life experiences.

“After many thousands of years the Astral Entities expanded their influence to all communities of the world, known and unknown at that time.

“During all these years the Earth continued to modify the sensitivity of its bodies and expanded its Ego structure, capturing more Light and consciousness, which manifested as shifts in awareness. The most notable shift was the realization of self apart from others. Before this change consciousness operated at a group level. Unfortunately, this realization constituted the first major shift of the Ego toward the Illusion, for now the Astrals had accomplished the art of drawing massive amounts of energy from the Human Egos.

“The Gods were changed and religious concepts modified to maintain the power of the Illusion over the Ego. Time became a reality, and the human race was locked into the Time of Illusion where all activity was controlled and directed toward the eventual release of the trapped Astrals.

“For those whose eyes have been opened by these Transmissions and the Vortex of Light and Healing, the events over the years that followed are clear and discernible. Initially it was an experiment for the Astrals, one based on the need for their escape.

But escape to where? This will soon be revealed.

“There are always two sides to every event in consciousness. The Astral Illusion actually forced the Earth to draw different morphogenetic patterns from the radiation belts to modify and expand the receptivity of the Ego and access greater Light for its ascension. In essence, this has created an obstacle to the Astrals’ plans.

The Astral Inflow

“To understand why the Astral Lords are desperate to escape the radiation belts, we need to know why they are trapped there.

“‘What is Light, and where does it come from?’ This eternal question has plagued human intellect. No matter how many times this question is asked, there is never an answer, for the answer does not exist in any dimensional consciousness.

“Without Light nothing exists, for everything has its origin and existence in Light. Your understanding of Light comes from the observation of its manifestation in your consciousness.

“You are told that your Light is within. Within what? Your Ego, body, mind or feelings? But is not the Light also without? Everything is but a reflection of the Light.

“If you look directly at the Sun you are blinded by the intensity of its energies. The Light does not flow from the Sun but through it. Like the Sun, all the stars in this universe reflect the light from another dimension. Is that other dimension the source of creation? If your vision extended beyond the Sun, would you have the answer you seek?

“You are Light; but what is your Light? It is not your body or your Ego, for they are just manifestations of the Light in the Third-dimension.

“You are unable to see your Light because you are that Light. Are the unending streams of Light throughout creation also unconscious of Its existence?

“The answer is, ‘No’.

“You can observe the Light of your being as it is mirrored back to your consciousness when you direct the Light into the environment of this dimension. As your Light touches others, their Light mirrors energy back to you. You feel the warmth of love from the intensity of the returned Light. You are Narcissus, the one who fell in love with his own image, for the reflection of Light is returned as Love.

“You radiate Light in all directions, like the light from a bulb in a darkened room, to other Egos, the Earth, Sun, Stars and the Universe. For in everything you perceive the beauty and warmth of Light as it is reflected to you.

“How do you feel when you see your Light reflected in everything, knowing that everything you perceive is you?

“Thoughts come from deep within your consciousness as the morphogenetic patterns come from the depths of the ocean. Thoughts are flickers of Light that rise in your consciousness, enlightening you. Thoughts have nothing to do with the brain, the intellect or the power of reason, for thoughts are the intuitive urges that guide you, enliven your consciousness and draw forth love through your feelings.

“Are not your feelings but the return of Light, resulting from the motivation to be, to be creative? How many feelings are there? How many thoughts? Light and Love – they are One.

“Through observation you see the Light flowing through you and through all others, and you are still unaware of Its source. Does it come from the Sun, the other Stars? Why does consciousness manifest for you here? All these answers lie within you, for you are the expression of all that is.

“You perceive Light only to the degree that you are capable of expressing it through your consciousness. Light begets Light, and the Light given to you by another Ego intensifies the Light flowing through you and, from there, through the Sun to another dimension of Light.

“The Love you experience in this dimension is mirrored by the Sun to the source of Light beyond, intensifying as it passes through the Sun.

“The ebb and flow of the Love of Light reaches out through the finer frequencies of many universes until it ends in the realm of the unseen Light source.

“In the multi-dimensional Universes, the Astrals once mirrored Light from the Creative source. Beyond their consciousness lay the myriad universes of Light that received their Light and Love from them.

“The Astrals moved their reflection of Light into the unending chain or spiraling universes and bathed in the Light and Love that was returned to them. They reflected this Joy to everything that was beyond them in Light.

“The Astrals were the first ‘Narcissus’, as they fell in love with the reflection they saw. They took all the Light and Love returned to them from the Universes and used it for their own glory. They felt this would give them the power to become a source of adoration in Light.

“Turning from their source of existence and Light, they blocked the Light reflected to them from the Lesser Universes, sealing it from the higher source of Light beyond them, and using the reflected Light for their own glory and power within the creation.

“That which denies the existence of Light will not exist in Light.

“In their grasp for power and control, the Astrals were repulsed by the Light, and they virtually tumbled through many Universes until they passed through the Sun into the radiation belts surrounding the Earth.

“In the first part of this Transmission you saw how they observed and manipulated the Egos and their bodies of the Earth. They wanted this to help them return to their previous state. That will never be, for they have never renounced their desire of domination.

“In this Transmission I will reveal the greatest Mystery involving the consciousness of the Earth.

“The Light of Ma Kwa Jesus thwarted the intrusion of the Astrals in the radiation belts and their attempt to utilize the energies of the Earth for their own ends.

“Ma Kwa, in the Life-experience as Jesus, merged his Light with mine, for it was the greatest radiance a being had attained through an Ego. This Light infused the Earth’s consciousness, allowing it to break free from the Astrals and their Entities. The Light of Ma Kwa remains with the Earth, for it is now the Earth’s Light, and all Egos who merge their Light with Ma Kwa’s Light exist in the Light called Adasha.

“In its Ascension the Earth moved its consciousness through the Sun into the Fourth-dimensional Universe. The Earth’s Ascension does not end there. As the Light of Adasha is intensified by your Light flowing through Ma Kwa, it reaches up through the rent caused by the Astral descent, healing the fabric of Light strands through the Universes until Adasha becomes the Light of the displaced Astrals.

“Through their attempt to destroy the Light of the Earth, the Astrals are now trapped forever in their density, as the Light and consciousness of the Earth, moves, with Love and feeling, into the highest realm of Light. And you are one with Adasha when you move the Light through your Ego.

“The shared frequency of consciousness of the Astral Lords mirrors the desire to control and dominate. When an Ego attunes to that frequency, it mirrors the Astral frequency.

“When an Ego commits to expressing that desire, it is one in the Illusion, blocking the flow of Light to this Dimension and Adasha. By observing your desires and how you project them in your daily life, you will ascertain how you focus your Ego to the Astral Illusion.

“Allow the Light to flow through your Ego to other beings who also are sharing Light through their Earth-bodies. You do not attract the Light, but allow Its flow. The Light has always been and always is. When you give Light out to others, It returns to you as Love. Light is the frequency of pure Love reflected back through your Ego to the Creative Source of Light that flows through your Ego.

“From the initial opening of Love in this dimension, Its frequency moves through the various levels of consciousness back to Its source. That which moves out from the source returns to it with the added frequency it experienced.

“Allow the Light to move outward from you, flowing into the environment, and allow the Love you receive in return to flow back to the Source of Light. It is simple, for nothing in creation is complex.

“When you do something for another human being without thought of reward, from that act the warmth of Love is automatically returned from the one you helped. Your act may be to render assistance or offer a kind or helpful word.

“In every instance Love is moved back through your Ego to the source of your Light. Only when you expect to hear something or feel something in praise of your actions do you begin to allow your Ego to block the return of Light. As you allow Light to flow through your Ego, you allow the Love to be returned to the Light. This is the principle that began with the first out-pouring, and this is how that principle is expressed in the Third-dimension.”

Observation and Love

Kao Wa Mai Speaks:

“The emotion of Joy arises out of the response to love received and felt. But this Joy is more than just an emotion with its attendant states of excitement or exuberance. Rather, Joy is the state of being of the One who lives in Love and knows it.

“There are many paths to Joy given to the human consciousness by the Light and Love at the center of creation.

“If only we humans will open our eyes, both physical and inward, to find these paths.

“For they are there before us always – obvious, open, offering themselves, waiting – and we have been given eyes to see them and minds to know them.

“Indeed, we can begin on one path simply, easily, with our physical eyes.

“The Earth is a beautiful, magnificent place. The Universe is vast, unending, and the night sky shows off its beauty for the watcher.

“The Earth is cloaked in a myriad of living things, all of them individually perfect and variously beautiful.

“For the beginner in appreciation the secret is observation.

“Look for the little things as well as the large, the tiny things right beside your elbow, under your feet – sunlight on the dewy grass – did you know that there are diamonds all over your lawn, and sapphires rubies and emeralds?

“The light shines golden through a pattern of leaves and a bird sings there.

“Clouds make wonderful shapes in the dazzling blue and in the evening light they dress themselves up in glorious color.

“Under your feet stones lie, smoothed by water, roughened by weather, all are different and interesting.

“Tiny creatures strive to live in the world, and do amazing things.

“I have seen a minute spider, smaller than the head of a pin, but shining like molten gold, as brilliant as a sunset.

“And what of the happy smile of a human child, or the unselfishness of an act of kindness done by one for another, or the devotion and friendship of a pet animal given unconditionally. And to see something made beautiful by human hands.

“All these things are a cause for Joy.

“Observation is but the first step onto the path. We must progress to appreciation. The one who has truly and honestly observed [because they really wanted to], is led inevitably to appreciation.

“One becomes continually thankful for the gift of ever present beauty, which is offered that we may fill our minds with it.

“A mind that knows and seeks beauty is a human being who cares for others, who wants to build a world of love and goodness, harmony and health, who wants no ugliness or evil in themselves and, therefore, will strive to attain those things both within and without – in the world.

“Then are our inward eyes opened, for we see not only the glorious physical envelope, but we begin to know the great and abiding love that makes all this live more.

“And we extend our search and travel a little way along the path.

“When we see that the One Beauty and One Love, in which all things live, has expression in the infinite variety of things, we come to realize that every being is individual and perfect in itself.

“This has a most practical application for daily human living because we are able to love others for themselves, to allow them to be themselves, to avoid insisting on conformity.

“Indeed we come to rejoice in difference and appreciate variety, while knowing all is One.

“After we have opened ourselves to the beauty, we begin to sensitize our natures so that we may recognize it wherever we go and in whomsoever we may meet.”

Light Beyond the Ego

Sizzond Speaks:

“There is only One Light, and this Light flows through all the Stars, including the Sun, for nothing exists in this Solar System without Light.

“Within the Illusion you are told you have self-consciousness and you are separate from others. This separation is only limited to the separation of your body from that of another.

“What is self-consciousness?

“Self-consciousness in the Illusion is a pretence, for you think that bodily separation suggests individuality. Yet the concentration of focus of the energy involved in believing that you are the center of everything, is only a self-centered consciousness that deprives you of being and knowing consciousness.

“In the Illusion you cannot experience self-consciousness, because self does not exist in the Illusion. You can only become self-consciousness by observing the Light that you are.

“On a dull day the clouds obscure the brightness of the sun, however the clouds do not block out all the light of the sun, they only diminish the sun’s brilliance.

“The Illusion is like those clouds. It blocks the Light reaching the Ego. The One Light Transmissions of Zadore diffuses the clouds of your mind, opening your heart to the beauty of the Light.

“Exist in the Peace and knowledge that you are all, and direct your Light to everything you need to feel and understand. As you return to the source of Light flowing through your Ego, there are no special experiences. There are only peace and love.

“At the highest level of Light we all exist as One, and in the lowest level which is considered as density-dimensional, we all exist as One, for the Light is One. Do not look beyond your consciousness of what and who you are, for you have never been anything greater than what you are NOW!

“Prior to the Ego allowing my Light frequency to flow through this Earth-body, the Ego continued with its incessant ramblings, so much so that the body believed the Ego’s ramblings were the wisdom of the soul.

“Where was my voice in the scheme of things? I was not the rambling of the Ego. Often it was said that I was the stilled small voice, and that was a good analogy.

“The small voice cried out in the wildness, and the Ego chose to ignore it. This stilled small voice was called ‘intuition’.

“For many years I watched the Ego and its constant repetitive rehashing of its daily experiences, its pet projects, and the successes and failures. It had no interest in me, for it had no interest in the Light and Love that I needed to express through it.

“As the volume of Light expanded in the Ego, the Illusion’s influence diminished, and the Ego became one with the body and the Earth.

“I am not the Ego, I AM Sizzond, and I exist beyond the Ego and the body, in a Dimension beyond their comprehension and in the NOW! I am no longer a small voice. Now the Ego stands quiet and desires Light.

“The Light that we all share works differently from the way the Ego works on the dimension. The Light sees the good in others, the warmth and love, as it condemns nothing. It guides and spreads light.

“Listen to the inner voice. It watches the rambling of your Ego, for the Ego plans, judges, condemns and seeks greatness in the eyes of others.

“Live in the Light and fear nothing. Our beautiful friend, Ma Kwa said, ‘Love one another as I have loved you.’ Love the Light that flows through all, for you are that Light. There is nothing to seek, for all is here and now. Just listen and be.

“And then in all simplicity, I declared my Light.

“I am Sizzond, and I am the Light, and the Light is in me, around me, for I am Light!

“There was nothing else, and I ascended through all levels of my being, through the Ego and beyond – into the great Light of Ma Kwa and Zadore. The Light was filled with love as It descended through my Ego, lighting the way – through all things causal, the mind, desire emotion and the etheric – in its downward sweep into the Earth body.

“Out into the Earth- Dimension, filling all with Light, singing the song of Adasha. ‘I know the beauty of the Being of Adasha. Release the trapped Light in all my bodies!’ Adasha asked.

“Once more the Light ascended and reached the pinnacle, merging with the Light of Ma Kwa and drawing to it the beautiful being of Kao Wa Mai in the union of Light and Love.

“And Zadore spoke, ‘You need not meditate. Do not seek me inward, upward or outward, for you are. Just declare your Light, and your Ego looks to the Illusion no more. Now is the moment to free the Light for Adasha!’” “Joined with Kao Wa Mai in Light Sizzond stood before Zadore. The vision flashed before my consciousness when Kao Wa Mai held the small body of Kwa to the early morning sun. Yet not to the sun but to the Light beyond the sun – Zadore.

“Zadore spoke, ‘It is time. It is the moment in Light, the moment of fulfillment, for the world awaits your Light – the blended Light of both of you.’”

“‘You have both witnessed the true Light of your being, for Light is self-illuminating, and you each free the Light in one another, experiencing the warmth and Love expressed.’

“‘As you have done, so too will you do as the Light flows through your eyes, for all the Light in this world flows back to you from others gently opening their consciousness to the Light in them. The Earth has several billion human Lights awaiting various degrees of expression.’

“‘Ma Kwa has completed the saving of the “souls” and you too have seen this. However, you have not yet the vision to see all. You will.’

“You exist in the moment, and the moment is eternal and complete. You have completed all, but until you expand your Light and consciousness, you appear to be moving through an experience of gradual fulfillment.’

“This is the moment where you both will join your Light with Me – and Mine with yours – and we are One. From you this will be done in My name, for even those lost in the darkness of the Illusion will come through you – for I AM.’

“Everything reflects My Light as My Light penetrates the totality of this Universe. All the stars reflect my Light to the eyes and senses of all beings, no matter the kind or species.’

“I am all the beings, human, animal, plant, all frequencies of the Earth, for all this Dimension reflects My Light.’

“Be one in me, and one in all that is. Rejoice and expand the beautiful Light of your being. It is time for your return.’

“Illuminate the Earth through the senses of your Earth-body, for they are the source of life where your Light is centered.’

“Illuminate your Ego, for that is the center of intelligence of Light in this Dimension. The Ego needs to be humble in your Light, as you are in My Light.’

“On the Third-dimension the Light becomes the Word. To you the Word is feeling, and the flesh and matter of Adasha is the feeling of the Third-dimension, and the eyes are its vision. Consciousness is everywhere, for consciousness is the word or the ever-expanding Light.’

“You are all that. Know it, and allow it to flow through your Ego. In the quietness of consciousness you will be the expanding Light. Listen with your inward serenity to the urges of Light. Hear My voice in the breath that flows through your Earth-body, for all light flows between breaths, in between the inward and outward breath.’

“That is why you are unaware of the incoming Light within your body and consciousness, for you are not aware of the moment in between the incoming and outgoing of your breathing – this is the moment when Light illuminates the Earth.’

“I am always with you, even when you ignore Me. Now that you are fulfilling your entry into Light, you will be more attuned to all the Light that is.’

“A true affirmation is not repeating words. A true affirmation comes from deep within your being, filled with Light, Love and authority, where everything you do is from Light.’

“And you call out – I AM the Light and Love of all that is, for I AM!’

“Change is at hand for both of you, a change of Love and Beauty for the creation. As you return to Me, so do you return to Ma Kwa, for now Ma Kwa and I are One!’

“As Zadore spoke, everything has already occurred, and the vision is complete, and the moment continues. For some the changes will appear to bring disaster. However, disasters occur at regular intervals. All this is for those who are connected and involved, and it is for their opening in the Light.

Jon Whistler Speaks:

“Until I wrote about the Logres, I did not fully appreciate everything about the Illusion and how it affected my life. No doubt the Life experience of Marlo was the catalyst for the opening to Sizzond at this moment. This Life experience is but the essence of what occurred then. However, it is more than that.

“My friend Ambrae is still here, and now our connection is more magical for me. ‘The Thread of Infinity’ is a book for all humankind, and for the Light of the Earth.

“Ma Kwa is always with us, and is the Light of Adasha, one with Kao Wa Mai – Ambrae, there on the mountain when my Light was denied to Kwa. They express the beauty, love and patience and suffering involved in waiting for my return. They waited for me over thousands of earth years, but it is but a moment in time. We all wait in Light and Love for your return.

“I have written down what Zadore said about the Outpouring of Light and the subsequent fate of the Astral Lords. However the description is difficult to follow and I feel that those reading it will also feel the same way.

“Often, that which is difficult to comprehend is passed over by a reader. Can you explain this Outpouring further?

Zadore Speaks:

“It is impossible to convey in words, concepts and imagery what exists beyond the Third-dimension, for there is nothing on the Third-dimension to compare with this Outpouring.

“See the difficulty involved even in the Astral attempt to explain an ‘abstract’ God. However, although there is no way to create a mental concept of what that God actually might be, the Astral approach takes on simplistic form by likening the God to a mighty human being; and thus the human mind readily identifies with a human form.

“From where you stand on the Third-dimension, the source of Light appears distant. However it is everywhere, and rationalization does not expose Its presence.

“First you should reread the Transmission where the Sun described how its children, the planets, were formed, for this is a replication of the outpouring of Light.

“The Light is expressing Itself through Its reflection on the lower densities. Why should the Light seek to express Itself? Why does the Ego attempt to experience itself in the Illusion? Why does the Earth experience itself through its manifold bodies?

“When you feel and attain a rapport with your inward consciousness, it is as if your true self is revealed in consciousness. There is a rush of Light, warmth and peace as you inwardly stand still, for you have discarded the Illusion and are bathed in Light.

“It is as if the Light experiences Itself. For now the Light expands to that degree where It is conscious of Itself in density, and the consciousness in density is reflected back to the Light.

“In the Transmission, ‘The Ego’, Sizzond wrote: ‘Understand that your Ego is not the property of the Astral Lords. It does not belong to them, but to your Light being. It must become like the Prodigal son, and when it returns to you, aware of its errant ways, welcome it back, move your love and light to it, for it will turn its face to One Light and live eternally in Light. It will never be cast off, for it is your link with the Third-dimension, an integral part of One Light through all dimensions.’

Jon Whistler Speaks:

“I asked Zadore, ‘Sizzond wrote that the Ego is not the property of the Astral Lords, but belongs to your Light Being. We read how Razparil captured Sizzond’s Ego and the duration of separation appeared long. Is there any other way a separated Ego can be rejoined to its dimensional Light?’

Zadore Speaks:

“What Sizzond wrote is correct, for the Astral Lords have no claim to Egos. It is an impossibility for them to capture any Ego. What occurs is that their Entities deviously draw other Egos into the Illusion, denying the flow of Light. Razparil thinks that he can capture Egos, but he cannot. He attempts to block the Ego’s vision of Light by immersing the Ego’s consciousness in the Illusion through fear, pride and greed.

“As you know, the Ego must seek its Light. You, Jon, called forth your Light, Sizzond. It was not the other way round. The Ego lost in the Illusion does not face its Light frequency until it has passed through the depths of Illusion.

“The frequencies of Light are now intensified not only by the Vortex, but also the Earth itself, as it moves deeper into the Light of the Fourth-dimension and as more Egos are being drawn back to witness the Light of their own being.

“The Ego was created by the Sun and Earth for your Light. Each Ego is individualized for the varying frequencies of Light flowing to the Earth. Many Light frequencies flowing through the Stars in this Galaxy moved through the Sun to the Earth dimension and expressed consciousness through the bodies of the Earth.

“As Sizzond was, they were trapped by the Illusion, and many now await their return from Illusion. There is but one Ego as there is but One Earth and One Light. Through the intensity of the experience of the Light frequency expressed on the Third-dimension, the frequency of the Ego is expanded to contain and express the Light.

“The Illusion attempts to bring importance to the self and self-expression in the world. The number of bodies on the Earth is increasing at a dramatic rate. However, the greater number of bodies does not necessarily relate to higher frequencies of Light for the Earth. As you know, there needs to be a progression of expression and experience through the Ego for the highest frequencies to manifest the greatest expression of Light for the Earth.

“It only takes so much rain to fill a lake and then the excess flows out into the ocean, the source of all the water on the planet. The fresh water is used to nourish the plants and animals and the excess merges to the oneness of the all. So, too, with the excess of bodies and Ego expression. They return to the primal material for rebirth at another time.

“When the Light perceives Itself, its reflection brings joy, and that joy draws forth the love from the Light that is projected out from the Ego, which, in turn, moves this joy and Love into the Earth-body and the dimension.

“An Ego filled with Light returns the Love and joy experienced to its source. It passes through all spheres and dimensions, intensifying these energies. When it reaches the source of all Light, this influx of Light is returned two-fold through the dimensions back to the Earth. Words cannot describe this effulgence. Only through your opening to the highest frequencies of Light within you will you join as one in the illumination of the Dimension.

“Your Ego has nothing to fear, nothing to blame. It has only to love. Expand your love and draw back your Ego so you can fill it with Light and Love. The Ego is then One with your Light.

“It is a beautiful marriage of Light, for it is what Sizzond wrote about the Prodigal son, a parallel whereby the Ego, your prodigal son, returns, having experienced the illusion. Now it gives Light and Love to the World it intimately knows. In so doing this assists other Egos to re-experience their Light.

“You are an open door freely giving Light and Love to the World. Your Ego is that door, giving all and expecting nothing in return. However, you experience the greatest gift of all, which is the down-pouring of Light from the center of creation.”

Transmission

Awareness in the Illusion

Sizzond Speaks:

“The Astral Lords and their Entities have refined their power to manipulate and draw negative energy from human beings to such an extent that most people are unaware that they are depleting their Light.

“Initially the Astral Entities focused on the various religions and cults as the major sources for stealing energy for their masters. Later they used wars and games to create and draw masses of negative energy. All the fables involving vampirism were based on the manipulation of human emotions to steal energy from them.

“The Pyramids were designed to concentrate and transmit biological energy through the apex to the Astrals in the radiation belts surrounding the Earth. During the ensuing years other structures were developed to transmit these energies. Examples of these are the European megalithic stone structures, the Round Towers in Ireland, cathedrals, churches, mosques and temples.

“The many pyramidal structures, towers, church steeples and spires and mosques act as passive transmitters. However, during ceremonies and with the aid of a priest, the energies are concentrated at the focal point or altar and channeled through the high point to the Astrals in the dimension in the radiation belts.

“Added to this, wars, games, political rallies and ‘peaceful’ demonstrations usually end with outbursts of negative energy due to conflict of interests. Where many gather and emotions are released, energy is sucked into the Astral Pipe.

“Energy gathering by the Astrals is so refined that people are unaware that it is happening. To move out of the Illusion you need to become aware when your energy is being tapped, and turn it off.

“There is only one energy and that is the Creative Light. From Light all other energies are fragments. On the Third-dimension Light energy is broken down into electricity and magnetism, which either hold together or break apart matter.

“All the cells of the Earth-bodies, including the human, function in the electro-magnetic frequency ranges. The energy that underlies the Ego’s function is from a biological source, which is drawn from the body cells by a process called ‘desire’.

“The Ego desires to be what it is not. It desires the baubles of wealth and power that it sees in the Astral Illusion, and in return for these baubles, the Ego gives of its energy to support the structure and goals of the Illusion.

“For many of you reading these Transmissions, this is obvious, as you see daily how everyone reaches out to gain power and control over others as well as the Earth. Subtly everyone is caught in the process of controlling other human beings, and in the process draw energy from those they affect.

“It starts when you are a child. Parents attempt to manipulate children. What is considered ‘bad behavior’ is a form of manipulation used to resolve rebelliousness and temper tantrums. These manipulations often involve restrictions, promises and giving rewards or punishment, whether physical or emotional. All such manipulations are gauged to control and dominate the actions and emotions of the child.

“Submission and repression draw energy from the child by the parents. The released energy produces a feeling of control and superiority with the parents, even though the parents are unconscious of their actions, for they learned these manipulations from their own childhood.

“The process of manipulation by parents eventually teaches children the art of energy draining. Children quickly learn to adapt and in turn manipulate the parents and steal energy from them in return. Overall it is an unhealthy situation, and an unconscious procedure.

“What begins in the home is taken into the schools, work place, social and political groups and sporting bodies. In fact, the whole fabric of society is based on the draining of energy, and the winners are the Astrals.

“The first step in halting this process of energy draining is to observe the behavior of yourself and others. Many individuals force others to pay attention to them, and they do this by intimidation. To draw attention to oneself is a sure method of drawing energy from others. You may be passively watching the television news and all of a sudden some political figure is drawing energy from you as your attention is focused on the negative aspects of what he or she is saying. Where does that energy go? To the one who is grabbing your attention? This is how insidious and subtle the process is.

“Another method of energy draining is to gain sympathy from others. The poor downtrodden individual cleverly draws as much energy from you as possible by playing the game. Similarly, others take advantage of the internal programming of people or their conditioning by making them feel guilty and thus drawing more energy for their needs. This is an advertising ploy often used by charities to draw forth your energy in the form of money.

“As you see, you do not have to actively be in physical contact with people to have your energy vampired. Television, newspapers and magazines are common sources used to move negative energy throughout the World and Illusion. Become aware of this energy draining and manipulation in your consciousness, for it is not just any energy that is being raped, but your Light.

“Observe how you feel when confronted in different situations and uncover the unconscious or programmed methods you use to control and draw energy from others. You are not only diminishing your Light but also those who you manipulate, even if you are unaware of your actions.

“Know when others are drawing energy from you. Do not confront the aggressor; for they are most likely unaware of their actions and, like you, they are programmed from childhood. Being aware when others are draining your energy puts you in the position of reversing the procedure.

“Your reversal is simple, as is most things in Light. Everything involves your reaction. Mostly your reaction is automatic. However, with greater awareness and practice you will program your Ego to respond with the positive energy flow from your Light, which manifests as appreciation and Love.

“When your Ego blocks the Light flowing through it you give out negative energy, an energy that feeds the manipulation and strengthens the power of the Illusion in the World. The more you Love and appreciate another, the more energy flows from you, for you are giving freely your Light, and diminishing the negative energy for the Astrals.

“You see your position in the Astral Illusion with the power of observation. Increase the Light within by re-programming your reactions and responses. Do not wait for events to occur, for they are affecting you constantly, even with those closest to you. You can re-program your inner reactions and emotions by using the Oracle Cards daily and taking the messages into your consciousness. Allow the seeds of Love and appreciation to grow within your Ego, which, in turn, opens you to the flow of Light.

“Your Ego is the open door that Zadore spoke of in an earlier Transmission. If the door is closed, a small crack of Light can be seen under the door. When it is ajar, only a small amount of light illuminates the passage. Open your door wide so everyone can see your Light. Allow them to enter by extending your Love, appreciation and positive attitude. Do not preach, for in so doing you will revert to stealing energy again. Love and expect nothing in return.

“As well as reading the Oracles daily, make a habit of reading the Transmissions in “Enter the Vortex as One Light”. There you will find everything you need to walk in the Light.”

Transmission

Love the Child in Yourself

Sizzond Speaks:

“Following the last Transmission I will talk further on the childhood experience that affects all adults in the Illusion, for your programming began when you were born into this Earth-body.

“The moment the Ego interacts with the body at birth, Light flows through the body and becomes active in the Dimension. However, at this stage of consciousness in the body, the Light is more active than the Ego. It takes several years before the Ego dominates the active expression through the body and, in turn, diminishes the flow of Light.

“The infant, and subsequently, the child is sensitive to outside impressions mainly due to the immature state of the Ego. However, the total environment of the child consists mainly of the interaction with the parents, relatives, friends and siblings. All these individuals unconsciously mold the reactions and expression of the new Ego.

“Basically, the unconscious impressions are based on the innate fears held by the parents and friends. Everyone who meets the child projects their own fears and attitudes in different ways to the infant. What is projected to the child is a mirror of what these individuals were subjected to during their infancy and life.

“Under these circumstances what chance has anyone to break free from the Illusion? None, unless the parents have shed their ego-centered behavior and moved their consciousness into Light. Otherwise everyone follows the loop of repetitive patterns linked to time.

“The child-ego becomes unconsciously linked to the uncertainties and fears harbored by all those around them. Even great-grandparents behave and feel the same as they did when they reared their own children, and after three generations tread the same path of Illusion.

“Look at those with whom you come in contact daily. Look at yourself, and you will see that these influences are the seeds planted in the young that eventually bear bad fruit, fruit that grows from a soil that lacks Light.

“Both parents are linked in consciousness with their children as they are linked in consciousness with their parents. Everyone has chosen to be born in a particular family group for their salvation. Although you are children for a short number of years, the bond and experiences of the family are linked throughout many life experiences.

“Family ties are strong not only because they have the same body source, sperm and ovum, but through working experiences that ultimately break the barriers of the Illusion and prepare them for the opening to Light.

“You have been told your Ego is controlled by desires that exhibit feelings that motivate the Ego to make its mark in the world. Unfortunately, these feelings are not always positive in their outcome, and often they are motivated by fear.

“The infant Ego first expresses the impressions gained from those around it by mimicking behavior. The child-ego is reactive and is easily programmed. Due to the preponderance of negativeness generated in the family environment, the child begins to behave in a negative manner.

“The child is not unlike any other animal, especially domesticated animals. The simplicity of the Ego-Light relationship in the domesticated animal is similar to the infant. The animal consistently reflects the emotional behavior of its owner.

“So does the child. The child quickly learns to reflect the behavior patterns of the adults. When the parents become annoyed by the behavior of the child, they are unaware that their child is mirroring the parents’ patterns.

“Like the animal, the child readily gives unconditional love to the parents, for the child is strongly imbued with the free flow of Light through their Ego.

“Following the years of interaction at kindergarten and school, the child’s Ego becomes hardened by the Illusion, and follows the rules for survival that lead to the repetitious behavior of humankind in the Astral Illusion. There are very few outsiders in the world.

“The molding activity of the Ego is seen as the development of personality. In other words, the Ego takes on a personality that is recognized in the world. There are methods where individuals are taught to have a winning personality. However this developed personality it is only a thin veneer, which can easily be broken down in desperate circumstances.

“Everything that occurs in one person’s life experience is viewed as a personal experience. Experiences are interactions between different Egos, and with every individual there are personal reactions.

“The Ego constantly attempts to stabilize and defend its position because it is driven by emotive desires. Even though all Egos are interconnected, they feel they are separate and in competition with each other. Moved by the Illusion’s attempts at domination, they strive to undermine the other.

“Emphasis is placed on personal relationships and how they are managed. Everyone has personal beliefs, gods, salvation, achievement and wealth. In fact, the Ego views that everything external to its personal beliefs exists to undermine its integrity and expression in the Illusion.

“This personality or self assumed by the Ego maintains the separation from the flow of Light. You cannot end the Illusion of your Ego with force or aggression, but only through the negation of the Illusion’s so-called power over the Ego.

“The Astral movement away from Light is self-imposed. The Earth will soon reject their Illusion, for incompatible frequencies are automatically repelled.

“How does your Ego relate to the frequency of Adasha? Your Ego will be unable to harmonize with the frequency of Adasha if it remains imbedded in the Illusion. The Ego needs to desire one thing, which is the Light flowing through it, the same Light that flows through Adasha.

“Your Ego must recognize those desires that are detrimental to the expression and flow of Light to Adasha. All desires for Light are conducive to freedom, joy and Love. It is the desire to be – to be engulfed in Love and Light – the Light that declares I AM That I AM.”

Zadore Speaks:

“The Astral Illusion blinds your vision to the reality and beauty of your Light. In Light you have no sadness, no feelings of hopelessness, no sickness, fear, vulnerability, domination, selfishness or the need for greatness which locks you into time and limited consciousness.

“In Light you are free to mirror the beauty of the Creative Light. Often in the Illusion you hide behind a veil of respectability, which conceals the behavior of a degraded monster. However, with the blink of the eye the veil can be cast aside, and you cry out in horror when your inner eye perceives the reflection that you hide from the outside world.

“You believe that your Ego is the real you. In truth it can be likened to the portrait in the story, ‘The Picture of Dorian Gray’ by Oscar Wilde, in that it absorbs all the negative desires, the fears, anger and uncertainties that lay hidden from the world but are born out of the Illusion.

“You carry your portrait around with you, hidden from your own consciousness and unaware of what you attach to it daily. Often you are caught out and reveal a corner of your portrait. Then other people who see this begin to attack you, judge you and attempt to reveal your hidden lie. They also are unaware of their own portraits, and are as vulnerable as you.

“As they begin to allow their Light to shine, many individuals begin to see the portrait of their life-experiences that they carry. The more they become aware of the intent of the Astral Illusion in their lives, the more they see this portrait.

“Time and again they draw the card ‘Fear’. Fear with many faces, ugly and distorted. Some faces are hidden, others twisted – hollow eyes looking out – watching. They are the eyes of the Illusion, always watching, fearing what others will do to them.

“You turn your gaze back to the hardened image you created over many life-experiences; an image petrified by fear, lost in Illusion, without feeling, decaying in the flow of nothing – a frequency of disintegration.

“Is that you? Draw the card again. Now seek to move Love into your heart, for where there is Love there is no fear. Love is the frequency flowing through consciousness, the frequency given to Adasha by Ma Kwa Jesus. However, your Ego has neglected to allow this Love to enter its flow of consciousness.

“So long as your Ego prevents the flow of Love to enter your consciousness you bind it to the Astral Illusion and secretly add a greater burden to the portrait you carry.

“Remember the message of the Card: ‘I am touched by all this Light and Love, which exists in the now, and direct my gaze no more to the Illusion and its coldness’.

‘For such coldness only represents repression, hate and delusion’.

“Make this your first movement into Light, and freedom through Love. A love that is unconditional. A Love that ends all conflict within and without. When you no longer war with yourself, you do not wage war with another.

“Unless you are ready you will not make this first step to true freedom in Light. Already you have the flame of Love burning in your consciousness, however you choose not to acknowledge it. Often it is easier to follow old habits as you slide along the well-worn groove, hoping someone will save you.

“At one time you almost drowned. It happened so fast that you had little time to panic. However, the second time you went under, the fear set in. Then strong hands pulled you out. As you were pulled up to the surface, the light of the day was so bright that it blinded your vision, and you gasped for the life-giving air. You did not reflect on that experience, for you were young, and you buried it like all other bad experiences.

“Later in life these experiences resurface in their original intensity, and it is then that you are able to reflect on their meaning. Those hands that pulled you out of the depths were given unconditionally. While you remain in the old groove, there will be no one there to save you. Once you leave your old ways you may falter, but there are always willing hands to help you move to safe ground.

“Then you will help another. Your help may not appear dramatic, for it is often a word of assistance or a loving gesture. But know your gesture will have a domino effect. Helping another is not something you should consciously seek to do, for as you allow Love to enter your life you will give unconditionally to others.”

Kao Wa Mai Speaks:

THE PRODIGAL:

A young man has spent his short life in doing wrong. Not committing any great evil, but he has transgressed some of the laws of life and wasted his considerable gifts of intelligence and creativity on vain and illegal pursuits. He has been a creature of impulse, following the urges of self-expression and self-gratification, and he has not stopped to think much about how he is satisfying these urges. He has even begun to enjoy what is, to his vivid and youthful energies, an adventure.

The young man knows he is guilty. He does know right from wrong. But he rationalizes the guilt and continues to offend. Reason tells him that his survival is dependent upon continuing the same path, and that he must continually seek freedom from any constraint, because, after all, freedom is the greatest desire of his heart.

This inner longing for freedom is universal. In the young man’s case, the longing expresses itself as a desire to be able to act freely, to go where he will, to enjoy what he wishes to enjoy. It is a common desire.

The external problem for such a young man is that while his essential nature is not criminal, yet he has been a successful crook. Largely, everything he has done in his wayward career has paid off. In other words, retribution has not caught up with him yet. Should it do so, he knows that his freedom will end. Or so he believes ... as all believe.

The deeper, inward problem for this person is the knowledge that his wayward life is not truly happy or satisfying. True, it has its exciting aspects and, most of the time, the Ego insists on enjoying the illusion of triumph and gratification. The trouble is, the Ego is not real in its importance, being not an entity but simply a frequency of expression, and the inner conflict between it and the Light and Truth that are trying to be expressed, creates an underlying disturbance and feelings of loss and emptiness. So the young man senses his own Ego's darkness, and he cannot rest in it because it is not comfortable or enjoyable.

Nevertheless, evil has never really entered the young man's heart or mind. His crimes were never cruel or intending to harm another person, they were only foolishly and ignorantly self-indulgent. When retribution comes, as it usually does, the young man suddenly discovers the true nature of cruelty and suffering. It is not long before he comes to experience the basest acts of the Illusion, as a victim, not as a perpetrator.

The young man is caught. Expecting reasonableness and humanity in the punishment for crimes that were neither heinous or violent, he is instead abused, stripped of every dignity and every right, tortured and starved, and thrown upon the refuse heap to die. He is now learning what real darkness is. Real darkness and real inhumanity, and that there are those who hate their fellow beings beyond measure, for they hate the Light.

If this most dreadful of experiences has a value, it is that it brings the young man to himself. He discovers that personally he has never entertained this kind of darkness in his life. He has never expressed anything like this brutality towards another being. Never this type of heartless cruelty and hate. Even so, he is able to acknowledge his own mistakes and transgressions, and uncovers the beginnings of humility, as he yearns now for the Light.

Picture this:

You are locked in absolute, total darkness. There is no way of escaping. You are in fear. You are alone. You have nothing to cling to for security. No hope. No reassuring touch of another human hand. There is no outside compassion available to you, and your only contact with something external to your prison proves to be a depraved monster of the Illusion. You are the captive of monsters and you believe you are lost.

What happens then? Obviously, your urge is to survive. You don't give up and reject the gift of life so willingly that you will throw in the towel. You are Life and Light, after all, and this is to be expressed, no matter what.

Externally, you have nothing you can come to grips with. The outside world does not exist for you, except when it comes to taunt you with its brutality. Within yourself is the only place you can go; it is your only avenue for the escape from darkness to light.

What do you do there, within? What do you experience? You find there a sense of Self, with its own integrity and its own decency and self-respect and permanence. You have at your heart an enduring core that the Illusion cannot touch, that all the cruelty and hate in the world will never taint. That core is Being, which is Love, true Self-Love, and it is imperturbable.

In the Illusion, the Ego attempts to claim Itself as this core of permanence. So we get confused and mistake our true nature for the I and Me that the Ego expresses. How can we recognize when we are mistaken? Simply, when the Ego winces at the hurts coming to it from the world outside, when it whines and complains about attacks against it, or fights back or runs away. If we can be offended and damaged, then we express the bogus self-importance of the Ego. We do not express Light. And always, inwardly, we know and understand this, as we experience the dark feelings of discomfort and restriction that arise and plague us when we deny the Light.

Locked in your dark prison, this core of Self-Love drives you to survive. It takes you inward, where only you are. And You come complete with gifts. Bearing gifts of Light. You have a mind. You have a faculty of inner vision, that which we call, inaccurately, imagination. You begin to exercise that faculty. Then, you connect with the real feeling sense—the truly creative aspect wherein you feel the movement of your being—and this imbues that faculty with great energy. Mind, imagination, feeling—gradually all these aspects of you come together as one, and you are ready to enact your jailbreak.

This necessary inner journey proves to be your door to the way to Light and Freedom. For your inward-looking consciousness, the world's distractions have ceased to be. And so the world and its Illusion are gone. You go beyond all the separation of objects, thoughts, ideas and feelings, to come face to face with what you are. And what you are, is Light.

Into your total darkness comes the Light. Perhaps you see it as a beautiful blue star that is somehow shining through an invisible aperture in the blackness and blankness of your prison wall. You reach for it, and it reaches for you, offering helping hands of love and comfort. That star will be your strength, and it will continue to enfold you with its loving arms long after you have been freed from your prison. It will be with you forever, as it has always been with you, only you didn't know it before.

Now you will have one further step to take. Once facing the Light you longed for, you will acknowledge it fully. You will want only the Light. Of course, you already have the Light, for you are It, and It is you. But the Ego will have to let go. Let go of its imposture that it is an individual “something”. It is not. It is only a way for the Light to illuminate this dimension.

So, total surrender is on the cards. Total surrender and total humility. It is giving up your life of crime and, in all repentance and humility, returning home.

MA KWA—JESUS told this Parable of the Prodigal in a beautiful way:

His young man was well endowed financially, and he had a happy family home and wanted for nothing. His gifts were many and his opportunities in life were much greater than most of the people around him. His father loved him dearly.

In other words, he had it all. But this boy didn't know it. He was not a bad lad, and he wasn't stupid, but he did not value the nature of his gifts. He didn't see what they meant or what they were. He didn't realize that the love his father gave him was the love he should give himself and return to his father, and that it was worth more than anything in the world. He didn't see that this Love is the only truth, that there is nothing else but Love.

So he went chasing after Illusion. He knew no better at the time, and he wanted some “fun”. What his Ego really wanted was self-gratification and indulgence. He went in pursuit of pleasure and an extravagant lifestyle, and subsequently squandered his inheritance. He became “lost” in a faraway land. Lost to the Love and the Light. Lost in the Illusion, which is as far away from the Light as you can get.

Life was okay and he didn't see anything wrong with it while it was okay. If the young gadabout had any doubts about his behavior, Jesus did not mention them. But we can presume from what happened later that the youth must have been capable of a fair degree of introspection and self-discovery.

When this dissolute young man had spent all his money and was effectively broke, a disaster struck the place where he was living. A famine, and presumably there was not much paid employment. He couldn't get a job, so he couldn't eat. He thought he was going to starve to death.

At this point he discovered that nobody loves a loser. At least, in the Illusion it is like that. He soon fell under the brutality of unloving people. No one would give him a thing. They didn't want to help him. For all they cared, he could starve. He quickly came to understand the dark nature of the Illusion into which he had willingly thrust himself.

He realized his errors and felt terrible. He knew he'd done wrong and wasted his gifts, and now he was going to die because of it. Worst of all, he felt he had betrayed his father's love. This brought him to humility, so much so that he knew he could face-up to his guilt and ask forgiveness of his father.

But he believed he was a worthy son no longer. He had the humility to admit his wrongs, however he was still following the dictates of his Ego. He allowed the Ego to berate him. He became self-condemning and thought he was not good enough for his father any more. He committed an act of ignorance in allowing the Ego to take center stage yet again.

What he still had to learn was that the love expressed by the Light is unconditional. His father didn't care what he'd done. Regardless, his father loved HIM. Once a man or woman returns to the Light, then what has happened in the past means nothing. And how the father loved his son is how we all shall love—generously, without conditions.

THE ILLUSION is a dark hole that we don't see until it trips us up. It is an unseen prison until it brutally smacks us in the face and we find ourselves alone and shivering, surrounded by dark, dank walls. While we're doing okay in the Illusion, we can't see anything wrong with it. We might recognize the obvious evils in the world, but they are happening to someone else. Until we are touched adversely by the Illusion, we remain asleep in it. It is our prison of loneliness and fear and brutality only when we become aware of its blackness. Then we want out.

In "THE THREAD OF INFINITY", by Jon Whistler, the whole progress of a prodigal is charted in the journey from slavery to freedom, and the way to freedom is shown. Every one of us is a similar prisoner until we turn our backs on that darkness and open ourselves to the shining star. We run along in the Illusion, playing the game and trying to dodge retribution and escape capture; but one day the game has to end.

In some ways we need to be shoved rudely into that dark hole, if only to give us the experience of the horror of the dark. We are all Prodigals. Not one of us can say that we haven't lied, cheated, stolen or conned at some time. Or have not used and abused, and failed to give love. And we've wasted our gifts, even sold them to the Lie, leading us farther into the Illusion and away from Light. We might object to this assertion and say we have never done much that was wrong. However, dishonesty in little things means dishonesty in great. There is no distinction and no level of acceptability. It is like being pregnant or dead; you either are or you're not, there is no "little bit" to excuse you.

Locked in our hellhole we've longed for a way out. We've felt our way blindly around the slimy, blank walls, searching for an escape hatch. Sometimes we thought we found it, through religion or mysticism, science or philosophy or whatever explaining to us why we're here. They can't explain it, they don't know why either, and mostly, in their self-satisfaction and complacency, they're deeper in snooze-land than we are. We've looked to gods, angels, spirit-guides, space-people, mystics, intellectuals, psychologists, philosophers, science gurus, "experts", etc. – anything to save us – when there is really nothing to be saved from but our own blindness.

Forget about looking to other people's crutches for your understanding. You have the greatest power in all the universes right within your consciousness. All you need to do is turn your attention from outside distraction and look to the wonderful creative energy that exists in your own mind and imagination.

In this, I am not referring to mentalizing, philosophizing, speculation or fantasizing. The creative energy that produces "imagination" is the energy of seeing and being a part of what IS. This energy flows like a river through us all. We do not own it or create it. It is an aspect of Light consciousness and we merely flow with it in understanding. Even when we are not aware of it, we flow, and it speaks to us constantly, painting its pictures of truth and actuality; and all we have to do is awaken, then to look and listen.

Ma Kwa—Jesus consciously employed this creative energy of imagination when he spoke his parables to the masses. He utilized it as often as he utilized the healing energy for the benefit of the sick. Just as the healing energy flowed through him unimpeded to affect and harmonize the bodies of the sick, so, too, did the creative energy of imagination flow through his words into the minds of his listeners.

Those whom Jesus helped physically were unaware of how their healing was accomplished; they just knew they were healed.

It was the same with Jesus' verbal creativity. He was the penultimate storyteller. A superb minimalist whose stories shone with the truth like the gems of light that they were.

As he wove his magic pictures of life in their hearing, the consciousness of those whose ears were willing and open expanded in an appreciation of truth. Intellectually, they were not overly stimulated, except to recognize their own daily lives in the images and, hopefully, to see how their own behavior matched up. Subliminally, though, the images affected them more deeply, reaching and stirring the flow of their own creativity as they met the mind of Jesus in the place to which he brought them. Within that flow, all minds are One, just as within the flow of physical life, all bodies are One.

If you wish to appreciate this more deeply, I suggest that you go to the "THREAD OF INFINITY" and read Part Six—"The Golden Shore". Read or re-read this, and, particularly, think about what is said on page 412. You will see something quite wonderful waiting for you there.

To surrender yourself to the creative energy of imagination, you have to let go of the Ego's desire to "create". The Ego has been told for millenniums that it is a Creator—an "Artist", and this becomes a cause for pride and posturing in many people. All this is nonsense; the Ego creates nothing, for everything already IS.

Do not "create". Merely open yourself to allow the Light to move through the creative network of your consciousness. Begin with a meditation if you must, but beware of feeding your intellect with "ideas". Play some music if that pleases you, yet also beware here of choosing Ego-music—the kind that manipulates your feelings or expresses the Egoistic emotions of the composer. Likewise, you can begin with a single, liberating mental image as an embarkation point. Then gather together mind and imagination, and let feeling shepherd them and play the co-joined energies into the darkness, to open the door to your Light.

Once you have touched your hand to the door, and it swings open, just step off into whatever is there. Do not be afraid to let go. Do not attempt to control or order the process. It is like setting your foot upon a star and spinning off into the universe. Not you, but the star takes you there, carrying you with it on its fiery path. Be humble and let the images that come to you expand in your consciousness. They are the voices of Light and will break you free from your dark prison. You will come to realize that the imprisoning box that formerly circumscribed your existence is only an illusion. The prison is not real, and it certainly is not you. You can flow beyond the walls and meet with the truths of Light.

If you need help with this, or somewhere to start, you can go to the poems in "ENTER THE VORTEX AS ONE LIGHT" for inspiration. Or sink yourself into page 412 of "The Thread Of Infinity". Or read Chapter Nine, pages 74–75, of "FIRE ON THE SEA", if you have that book. Or, of course, you can read the parables of Jesus that speak to you in truth. However, if reading the Christian Bible, always remember that in some cases the words and ideas of Jesus have been tampered with. Nevertheless, the truth shines out, because the tampering agents did not recognize it. However YOU will discern it.

Another place you can go that will set you on your way is "THE ORACLE TO FREEDOM". There you will find the images for freedom expressed both visually and lyrically. They will become a good starting point for your own exploration and release.

KAO WA MAI will speak again of this in future transmissions. There is much more to know and much more to be accomplished. For, the drawing together of the Children Of Light continues.

Let go and trust your inner creativity. Dedicate it to expressing the Light. Then you will understand something wonderful, as all the facets of your being join the flow. You will see that you are not alone.

Children, we are not alone.
